Frequently Asked Question:

If there is Hydrogen in all foods and lots in water (H₂O), why should I take Molecular Hydrogen tablets or inhale it? Can't I simply drink more water to get more hydrogen into my body?

Yes, hydrogen is everywhere...literally. The Astronomer Harlow Shapley said, "If God did create the world by a word, the word would have been hydrogen." It's the most abundant element in the universe, found in foods and water, and is also produced in our intestines during digestion.

However, the concentration level is key when using hydrogen as an effective and therapeutic antioxidant and anti-inflammatory agent. The levels of hydrogen ingested with food and water are not enough to mitigate the free radical damage we're living with in this day and age. Nowhere near enough!

That's why disease is running rampant and our healthcare costs are through the roof. Of course, Vitamin C and other antioxidants are still useful, but higher concentrations of hydrogen do much more to quickly counteract cellular damage. And again, you just can't get those higher levels without taking tablets or by inhalation. H₂ therapy really works!

♥ Still unsure? It seems too good to be true when the potential is powerful enough to change the face of medicine. But don't take my word for it. Read the studies on my website under Favorite Products and also use my Search Bar and type in "Molecular Hydrogen." One Inhaler session is the equivalent of taking 65 tablets! I use both forms in my home and office, use the skin mister and earthing mat daily and I take the tablets with me when I travel. So can you! Call today with your questions and to order.
